BIRTHDAY TEA HONORING MISS COLEMAN

Miss Persis Coleman, who graduated from the Mills Seminary in 1897 continues to be one of Mills College's most avid supporters. She has strengthened many programs on the Mills campus, among them the Music Department, the Library, the Children's School, the Mills Quarterly, and the Mary Woods Bennett Professorship, established in honor of a former Dean of the Faculty.

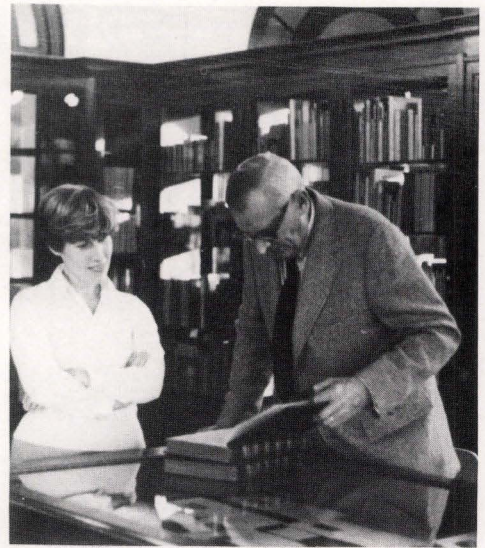

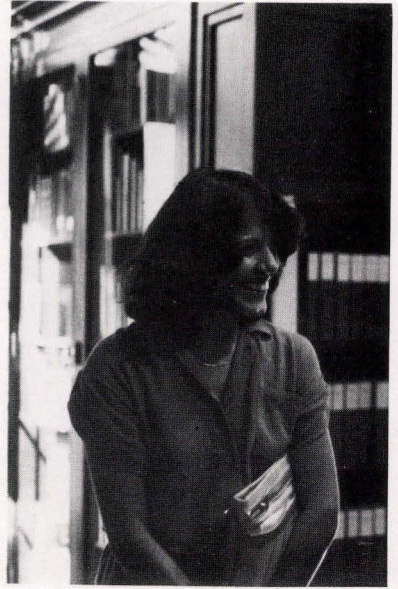

Miss Coeman and her family have played a large part in California history. Her father, John Coleman, was one of the founders of Pacific Gas and Electric, the first stockholder of Pacific Telephone, and the first president of the Northern Pacific Coast Railroad. Her brother helped finance the construction of Grace Cathedral in San Francisco. The Victorian mansion of the Coleman family is a San Francisco landmark.

Persis Coleman Hall celebrated the 100th birthday of Miss Coleman at a Birthday Tea held in her honor on November 3, 1978, in the Bender Room of the Library.

Senior Pin Dinner

The tradition of the Pearl "M" began with the Class of 1902. At that time, Mills Seminary and Mills College were in co-existence. The Seminary had a senior pin, but the College did not; some seniors approached Mrs. Mills about it. Two girls who were "properly chaperoned" were sent to the offices of Granat Brothers in San Francisco. Mr. Granat and his designer came together to design the Pearl "M" we know.

Dr. Dobrofsky, Visiting Assistant Professor of Sociology, was honored during the Senior Pin Dinner.

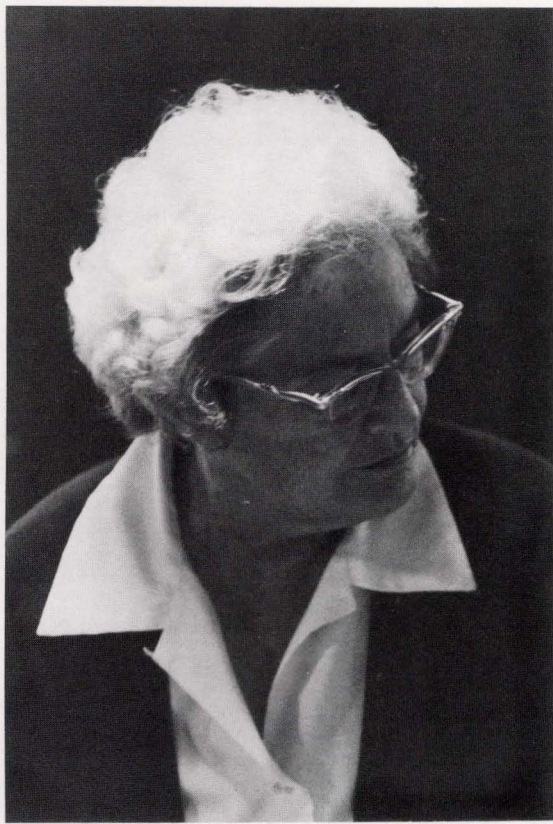

Mrs. Tate has been the cashier in Mills Hall since 1975. Before that she worked in the College owned bookstore. She was also honored by the senior class.
